

Instructions

Give every guy two legs of equal length. Every empty square must be used. Legs must follow the orthogonal grid and cannot cross or share space with other legs. Legs may not pass through thick borders.

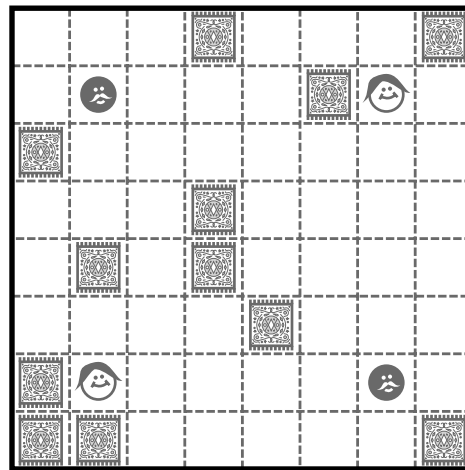

In order to keep the beautiful rugs nice and clean, legs may not go over any rugs, and no shoe may be placed orthogonally adjacent to or on any rug.

This ne'er-do-well wants to dirty the rugs! They're going to put their feet directly on top of the rugs. If you solve this puzzle you are complicit in this evil doing.

The octopus forgot it was leg day! Help the octopus stretch its legs by drawing 8 paths of equal length that fill the entire available space. Remember, one leg per tile, orthogonal lines only, and definitely don't cross legs - that would be rude!
